TOWN OF MACE IN STATE OF WASHINGTON SCENE OF AWFUL DISASTER.

WHOLE TOWN IS BURIED

Snow Piled Up Thirty Feet Deep for Distance of Half Mile—Work of Rescue Begun.

Walla Walla, Wash., Feb. 28.—Snow thirty feet deep and a half mile long covers what was the prosperous little town of Mace, as the result of one of the worst snow-slides this country has ever known. It is estimated that a hundred persons are buried beneath the drifts.

Early reports this morning say that already twelve bodies have been taken out of the drifts and that twenty-five men, women and children were found alive buried beneath the drifts. It is possible that others may also be alive. It is reported that at least a hundred persons lost their lives and it will be some days before the snow can be cleared away and the bodies recovered. The work of rescue is being pushed as fast as possible and extra trains with workers have been sent to the village.

A train with twenty-five injured left Mace for Walla Walla this morning and others will be forwarded as fast as possible.

SHERIFF F. E. NELLIS.

THREE CENTRAL FIGURES IN THE CAIRO DISTURBANCE.

By NORMAN.

Cairo, Ill., Feb. 28.—After studying the situation in Cairo and talking with men who took part in the recent riot, it is safe to predict that the conflict of races is not over. At some unexpected moment when all has again quieted down a race war more appalling than any that has heretofore taken place in Cairo will erupt in the world. For the present all is peaceful, though the town is under the strict surveillance of the state militia. I called upon Sheriff Fred D. Nellis and found him a young man of rather stocky build, a pleasant and affable man to meet, and the last in the world whom one would imagine to be the heartless individual pictured in the newspaper accounts. That he is determined to prevent future lynchings in Cairo is certain. By the way

FOR ALLOTMENT OF YUMA LANDS

LARGEST HALL IN LOS ANGELES ENGAGED.

BEGINS TOMORROW MORNING

82,000 Acres Embraced in the New Agricultural District of the Southwest Redeemed by Irrigation.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 28.—The largest available hall in Los Angeles has been engaged in which to conduct the initial steps in the Yuma irrigation project "land lottery" tomorrow. The plan decided upon for the Yuma lands is an entirely new one and representatives of the General Land Office at Washington are here to observe its workings with a view to its adoption in the future distribution of all public lands. Early tomorrow morning the several thousand persons desirous of filing claims will assemble in the hall hired for the purpose. Cards will be distributed to them by agents of the government, and on these the prospective claimants will be required to write their names and postoffice addresses. At any time during the next ten days the applicant may appear at the land office in this city and, upon being identified by the card, may make application for any of the 170 farms that the government is to give away.

The necessity for the new plan arose from the anxiety of claimants to be first on the spot when allotments were made. An early start two weeks ago several hundred men and women had already formed in line before the land office here, with the evident intention of attacking fast to their posts until the day when the allotments were scheduled to be made. In order to prevent the hardships which must necessarily result from such an endurance test Secretary Ballinger directed that the new plan be adopted. The opening of the Yuma irrigation project to homestead entry will mark the birth of a new agricultural district in the Southwest, whose growth and development are certain to be rapid. The project, which has been completed by the government at an expenditure of about $5,000,000, provides for the diversion of the Colorado River on both banks about twelve miles northeast of the town of Yuma. It will reduce 17,000 acres of an Indian reservation on the California side and about 75,000 acres of public land on the Arizona side.

The Yuma valley lands are especially adapted to the growing of alfalfa. When the alfalfa acreage is sufficiently increased, the valley is expected to become the feeding place for cattle in transit. Dairying is expected to become another profitable enterprise, as stock raisers will find food other than alfalfa. The climatic conditions are excellent for poultry raising and bees. The Yuma valley is destined also to take a prominent place among the horticultural districts in the Southwest. Many deciduous fruits such as figs, apricots, plums, peaches, pears and olives, may be raised. One hundred and seventy-three farms of 40 acres each are to be allotted by the government. The charges are as follows: Ten dollars per acre for the land, which amount is to be credited to the Indians who belong to the reservation; $35 per acre, which represents the pro rata cost of the irrigation works; $1 per acre for maintenance and operation of the system for 1910; total, $60 per acre.

Easy terms will be made for the payments. One dollar per acre per annum is to be paid for the first year, $5.50 per acre per annum for the water right charges, and $1 per acre annually for actual maintenance. No interest is to be charged on deferred payments. The entryman who failed payments, the entryman who is irrevocable, will be required to pay at the time of filing the sum of $300, and time of filing thereafter a like amount until the full charge of $3,000 is paid. In other words, a 40-acre farm will cost $3,000 with ten years in which to make the payments. Place Dead at Sixty. Spokane, Wash., Feb. 28.—The number of dead in the avalanche of Sunday night is now conservatively estimated at sixty. Besides the destruction of Mace the avalanche covered the town of Burke where scores of houses were crushed. Fourteen bodies have been recovered from the ruins at Mace and sixteen at Burke.

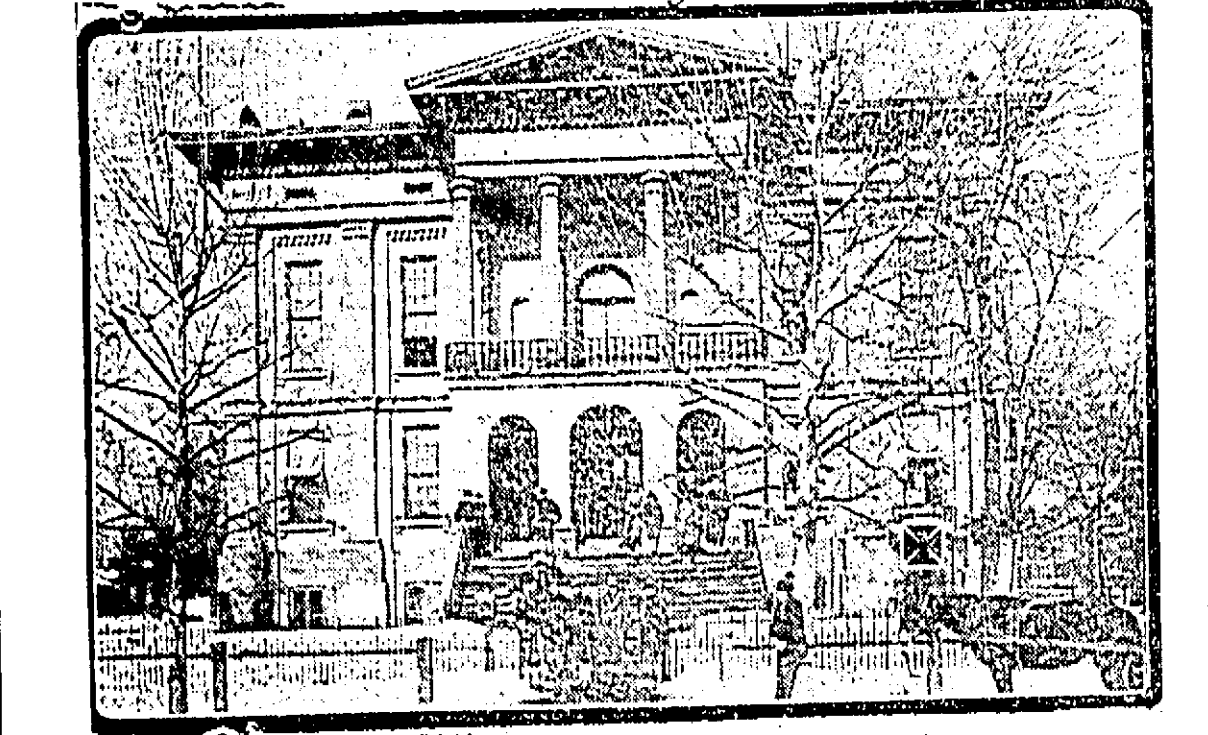

THREE I LEAGUE MAGNATES MEET

In Special Session at Chicago to Adopt a Schedule for the Coming Season.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Feb. 28.—For the purpose of adopting a schedule for the coming season acting on several proposed changes in the constitution of their organization, the magnates of the Three-I baseball league assembled in special session in Chicago today. The changes in the constitution are of minor importance and will probably be adopted without debate, but considerable difference of opinion prevails to develop in regard to the playing schedule. The grouping of the games is the chief point at issue. Some of the club owners favor three trips from the north to the south end of the circuit and vice versa, while others believe it would be more advisable to adopt a schedule calling for four trips.

CHANGES RUMORED IN RANKS OF THE DIVISION OFFICIALS

Rumors are current today, to the effect that a number of important changes are to be made in the ranks of the division officials. It is stated that E. H. Wade, Master Mechanic of the Wisconsin Division, will be given a similar position on the combined Pennsylvania, Addland and Northern Wisconsin with headquarters at Green Bay and that Master Mechanic Fossick of the Northern Iowa Division will take Wade's place. Another rumor has it that Assistant Master Mechanic Morse, formerly foreman of road engines on the Wisconsin Division, and Assistant Master Mechanic on the Galena Division, would be promoted. Just what will be done will not be known until the official bulletin arrives, but it is fairly certain that some important changes are in prospect.

Business still continues to be rushing. Between the hours of nine this morning and two this afternoon ten extras were ordered out, an average of two an hour.

Yard Master Griffin reported for work this morning after a week's illness. Switchman John Clough, who relieved him, has taken charge of an engine in the yards.

Engineer S. O. Dudley has received the time freight runs, numbers 581 and 584, with a regular engine, 527.

Pleasant H. S. Garry is writing his engineer's examinations and expects to be able to get out on the road in the spring.

Switchman Mulcahine returned to work on the 7 a. m. switch-engine in the yards yesterday after a two weeks' lay-off.

GET POWER.
The Supply Comes From Food.

If we get power from food, why not strive to get all the power we can. That is only possible by use of skillfully selected food that exactly fits the requirements of the body.

Poor food makes a poor fire and a poor fire is not a good steam producer. "From not knowing how to select the right food to fit my needs, I suffered grievously for a long time from stomach troubles," writes a lady from a little town in Missouri.

"It seemed as if I would never be able to find out the sort of food that was best for me. Hardly anything that I could eat would stay on my stomach. Every attempt gave me heart-burn and filled my stomach with gas. I got thinner and thinner until I literally became a living skeleton and in time was compelled to keep to my bed."

"A few months ago I was persuaded to try Grape-Nuts food, and it had such good effect from the very beginning that I have kept up its use ever since. I was surprised at the ease with which I digested it. It proved to be just what I needed."

"All my unpleasant symptoms, the heart-burn, the indigestion, which gave me so much pain disappeared. My weight gradually increased from 95 to 115 lbs., my figure rounded out, my strength came back, and I am now able to do my housework and enjoy life. Grape-Nuts did it."

A ten days trial will show anyone some facts about food.

Look in plays, for the little book, "The Road to Wellville." There's a Reason.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Selected Edison Records for March
Forty-three records—twenty-seven four-minute and sixteen two-minute—which offer a pleasing variety in instrumental and vocal selections, constitute the Ambrosia and Standard lists of the Edison phonograph for March. Out of this brilliant array of musical and vocal gems, if choice is to be made, we should select as the most desirable the entire grand opera catalogue supplement of five four-minute records as follows: "E lucevan le stelle" from La Traviata, sung by Riccardo Marilli, tenor; "O Paradiso" from L'Africaine, by Florenco Constantino, tenor; "Infelice" from Ernani, by Luigi Lacerelli, bass; "Vol ta sapete" from Cavalleria Rusticana, sung by Kathor Ferrabini, soprano, and "Suoni la tromba" from I Puritani, a baritone and bass duet by Lacerelli and Ernesto Caronni.

Then we would call from the domestic four-minute list the exquisite waltz, "Roses," from the (Ayley) Ballet Suite, "The Rose of Shiraz," by Sousa's band; "Badinage," played by Victor Herbert's orchestra; "Fantasia on Themes of Leonard and Wagner," by Michael Hammer, the famous violin virtuoso, and "Hazy Night" by the Vienna Instrumental quartette. Among the vocal offerings our choice would rest upon "The Humming Bird" and "When I Got Back Again to Bonnie Scotland," sung by Harry Lauder; "Do They Think of Me at Home?" by the Manhattan Mixed Trio; "Dreams," by Elizabeth Wheeler; "Daisy Jones' Looker," by Gus Reed and "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet," by Frederic Potter and chorus.

Turning to the two-minute list we prefer, in the instrumental line, "La Letra De Mamon" by Sousa's band; "Laverne-Waltz Caprice," a lovely saxophone solo by H. Bono; "Honeydew," played by Victor Herbert's orchestra, and "Four Little Sugar Plums" by the American Symphony orchestra. Out of the vocal offerings our choice would be "I've Loved Her Ever Since She Was a Baby," by Harry Lauder; "Not for Me," by Jessie Wynn; "Irish Blood," by Ada Jones, and "Hunting Song," by Stanley and Gillette.

The Best Investment
Any Cow Owner
Ever Made

That's what more than one million COW OWNERS the world over have found the DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR to be, after thirty years of separator use.

A DE LAVAL FARM SEPARATOR costs from $45. to $175.—according to capacity. It saves butter fat and produces a cream of superior quality over any setting system or any other separator every time it is used,—twice a day every day in the year.

It involves far less labor than any setting system, and runs easier, has greater capacity and lasts from two to ten times longer than any other separator.

That's how a DE LAVAL separator saves its cost at least the first year, and frequently in a few months, and then goes on doing so right along for an average of twenty years.

So far as other separators are concerned they leave off where the IMPROVED DE LAVAL machines begin, and the DE LAVAL makers, with thirty years of experience in separator construction and development, have forgotten more about separators than all the others know. In fact it's what the DE LAVAL has forgotten and discarded that the others use.

That's what makes the DE LAVAL CREAM SEPARATOR the best investment any cow owner ever made, and an investment no cow owner can have sound reason for delaying to make.

And in buying a DE LAVAL machine you don't have to part with one cent until you have satisfied yourself that every word of all this is simple truth.

Any desired separator information can be had of

125,000 MEN ARE TO STRIKE

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY LABOR UNIONS VOTE TO AID STRIKING CAR MEN.

MOVE TO BE MADE SATURDAY

Man and Boy Killed and Four Others Are Injured When Trolley Car Jumps the Track and Crashes Into Store.

Philadelphia, Feb. 28.—Delegates from 140 unions with an estimated membership of 125,000 at a meeting of the Central Labor union voted to begin a sympathetic strike on Saturday next in support of the striking street car men.

This action came at the end of a seven-day session of about 700 delegates in labor lyceum hall, which lasted more than six hours. There was apparently no question that the delegates would vote to strike, the split being on the question of whether it would be started immediately. The more conservative element prevailed, however, and the walk-out was put off until next Saturday.

Hope for Arbitration.
Meanwhile, there is hope that the street railway strike will be arbitrated, despite the repeated declarations of the transit company, controlling all the lines in the city, that "there is nothing to arbitrate."

Nobody doubts that the action of the Central Labor union makes the situation very grave. There is a strong feeling, especially among business people, that the strike should be settled speedily, as all lines of business suffer because of the stagnation resulting from the interference with traffic. Consequently there is much sympathy for the move for arbitration made by clergymen of all denominations early last week.

Man and Boy Killed.

A man and a boy are dead and four other boys were seriously hurt as the result of a trolley car jumping a switch at Sixth and Jackson streets, and crashing into the front of a cigar store.

The dead and injured were all standing in front of the cigar store. There had been a disturbance down the street and some one had turned the unused switch at this point. A trolley car driven at a high rate of speed jumped the track and crashed through the crowd on the sidewalk, only stopping after it had torn the front out of the store.

Union Men Arrested.

Fifth street, Girard avenue, South street and other thoroughfares were the scenes of almost continuous disorders during the late afternoon hours.

Charged with being implicated in a plot to blow up trolley cars filled with passengers and to destroy other property of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company, Charles R. Copeland, a striking conductor, and William C. Field, a stationary fireman, formerly of New York, were held in $2,500 bond by Magistrate Heaton.

LIFT MEN WILL GO ON STRIKE.

Elevator Conductors Vote to Quit Unless Wage Demands Are Met.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—By an overwhelming majority the elevator conductors and starters employed in downtown office buildings voted to go on strike unless their demands for a wage increase are met or the managers agree to arbitrate.

At what hour the strike order will be issued is still a matter of doubt, but it is probable that President John Fitzpatrick of the Chicago Federation of Labor may be able to put it off for a day or two.

Should the men go out, 23 skyscrapers will be affected, forcing 600,000 people to walk up and down stairs.

PRESIDENT TAFT WAS DECEIVED

PINCHOT AT HEARING CHARGES BALLINGER WITH DECEPTION AND DISLOYALTY.

SAYS HE IS UNFIT FOR JOB

Ex-Forester Declares He Will Show That Secretary Entered Office with the Avowed Purpose of Overturning Roosevelt's Conservation Policies.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Gifford Pinchot, taking the witness stand at the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry, read a statement to the committee, before giving his testimony, in which he charged Secretary Ballinger with falsehood and disloyalty to President Taft and declared that Mr. Ballinger should be dismissed from the service.

The introduction of Mr. Pinchot's sensational statement was followed by the swearing of the former forester as a witness.

Recital Is Dramatic.

The statement which Mr. Pinchot read with dramatic effect outlined the story which he expects to relate in detail before his testimony is completed.

"When this story has been told," said Mr. Pinchot without raising his voice or indicating that he regarded it other than a mere matter-of-fact preface, "and the witnesses whom I shall ask you to call have been heard, you will realize that the interests of the people are not safe in Mr. Ballinger's hands, and that the country will demand of this committee a verdict in harmony with the general conviction that the secretary of the interior has been unfaithful both to the public, whose property he has endangered, and to the president, whom he has deceived."

Pinchot declared he would show that Ballinger entered office with the clear purpose of overturning the Roosevelt policy of safeguarding water power sites and spoke of the imperative duty of "getting rid of an unfaithful public servant."

Conservation Is Wrecked.

The conservation movement begun under the administration of President Roosevelt was progressing splendidly up to the time that President Taft and Secretary Ballinger came into office, declared Mr. Pinchot. He charged that in less than a month thereafter Secretary Ballinger had practically broken the backbone of the central idea of the conservation movement by restoring previously withdrawn water power sites to the public domain and laying them open to private appropriation and monopolistic control.

Subordinates Are Coerced.

The restorations by Mr. Ballinger were made without any investigation of the subject whatever, said Mr. Pinchot, and he charged the secretary with having deliberately ordered the officers of the reclamation service, against their will, to recommend that some of the restorations should be made.

Concerning the Glavis charges in the Cunningham coal cases Mr. Pinchot said:

"I shall show you how the forest service became involved in these cases and how Glavis submitted facts to me. I believed then, as I believe now, that he told the truth."

"I am convinced now, as I was when he came to me, that Glavis was a faithful public servant and that the facts which he presented prove that Mr. Ballinger has been unfaithful to his trust as a servant of the people and as the guardian of public property of enormous value."

"I shall show you that under our present law and practice the more difficult task falls on those who would protect the public property and not on those who would despoil it, and that under the present system the betrayal into monopolistic control of what belongs to all of us is made easy and often, in practice, inevitable."

Replete with Sensations.

Mr. Pinchot's first hours on the witness stand were as replete with sensations as had been promised, and the suffocating crowd in the hearing room listened intently to every word.

His recital had not progressed far when there came an objection from Mr. Ballinger's attorneys as to the witness repeating conversations had with President Taft. It was contended that the relation of these would put the executive in an attitude where he either would have to remain silent or else appear before the committee as a witness, which, it was declared, would be undesirable.

The question was argued for some time, and during the course of his statement of the matter the attorney for Mr. Pinchot admitted that President Taft, in a letter written subsequent to the conversation, had declared that his recollection of what transpired at the interview differed in some particulars from that of Mr. Pinchot. The matter was put over for consideration by the committee in executive session, and it is expected that a decision will be announced when the next session is held, on Tuesday morning.

TRAMP SAVES CHILD, IS GIVEN $500,000 REWARD

Col. Jennings of Texas Makes Him Half Owner of His Million-Dollar Ranch.

Galveston, Tex., Fe. 28.—As a reward for his bravery in saving the life of little May Jennings by snatching her from in front of a railroad train, Sam Jennings, the father of the little girl, has transferred to Francis R. Strome a half interest in his cattle ranch said to be worth about $1,000,000. Jennings' property is located in Jeff Davis county and there are about 25,000 head of cattle located thereon.

Strome is about fifty years old, a machinist by trade, and for many years a resident of a small town in Illinois. He met with reverses and, after the death of his wife, took to drink and had been leading a shiftless life for several years. He was beating his way westward trying to make California, and was hanging around Alpine trying to catch a train when the incident happened that brought him fortune.

ONE PACKER SURRENDERS TO STATE AUTHORITIES

New Jersey Prosecutor Asks Court Permission to Annul National Packing Company's Charter.

New York, Feb. 28.—The first director of the beef trust, indicted by the county grand jury at Jersey City to voluntarily surrender himself to the authorities was James E. Bathgate is a Newark meat operator and the New Jersey representative on the board of directors of one of the indicted companies.
On testimony of Kenneth K. Mc-

Judge Swayze replied that he would be sitting in Trenton next month, and would hear the petition for annulment there.

THE NATION'S ARMED FORCE

According to an Eastern editor, for some time past, the regular army has been attracting the serious attention of other than military men. The present need of a standing army is admitted on all sides. It is admitted, also, that our standing army is not too large. But it is generally known that it requires constant effort on the part of the government to keep it recruited up to anything like its full strength. Opportunities outside of the army are too numerous and too attractive. Yet there are also innumerable reasons why the advantages of military life and training should draw a sufficient percentage of our young men to the recruiting office. There is a growing belief that the regular army should and could be made a great educational establishment—that it could and should be so organized and managed that young men entering the service might be graduated from it five years later with a training that would qualify them to fill useful and responsible positions in the professional and business world.

A bill has recently been introduced in congress providing for the compulsory saving of part of the monthly pay of each enlisted man in the regular army, navy and marine corps of the United States, and stipulating that interest shall be paid on the enforced deposits at the rate of 4 per cent per annum. The purposes of the measure are to make it a greater object to the enlisted man to observe the terms of his contract with the government and to enable him to start decently in life when his term of enlistment ends.

Regarded in the light of military regulations purely, no serious objection could be raised either to the economic or educational proposals advanced here. On the assumption that the government rightfully exercises complete control over enlisted men during their terms of service, and that it is justified in making special rules and laws for their observance that would not be applicable or acceptable to civilians, the very large and influential element of our population opposed to paternalism might tolerate and even approve of these innovations, regardless of their paternalistic tendencies. The purposes appear to be worthy. It is in the method of advancing them that we must be careful, if we would avoid the gradual adoption of a system that is at variance with our democratic institutions.

TOO MUCH LEGISLATION

Congress has been in session only a little over two months, yet it now has before it two hundred and seventy-three bills affecting corporations and especially the railroads. All of them have been introduced since the beginning of the session.

The 273 bills are divided roughly as follows: 67 relative to procedure in courts, injunctions, etc.; 41 amending interstate commerce acts and giving the commission increased power; 25 relating to corporations, railroads, unjust discriminations, rebates, taxes, etc.; 12 concerning the issuance of stock, valuations, overcapitalization, etc.; 13 relating to margins, options and futures; 15 on the subject of labor, employers' liability, etc.; 53 relative to mail contracts, style of equipment, safety appliances, inspection of grain, etc.; 15 about the issuance of passes, two-cent fare, baggage, claims, etc.; and 19 applying to immigration, and the transportation of animals and liquors.

By way of contrast may be mentioned the fact that there were introduced in the British parliament 402 new bills—the session lasted nine months—of which 48 were passed. The railroad bills were included among the 131 private bills.

Admitting that we are bigger, do we need ten times as much new law as Great Britain and Ireland?

UNDEVELOPED INDUSTRIES

It must have occurred often of late to the thoughtful observer that the disposition manifested on all sides to find fault with those who are successful in worldly affairs—to criticize them, to hold them up to censure because of their success or the prosperity attending their efforts either for themselves or their corporations—is in most instances not only unfair but futile, and from both a social and a moral point of view, unwise. Is it not possible, it may well be asked, to enlist the forceful men, who are leading in every department of finance, commerce and industry, on the side of reform?

tion, etc., 13 relating to margins, options and futures; 15 on the subject of labor, employers' liability, etc., 53 relative to mail contracts, style of equipment, safety appliances, inspection of grain, etc., 15 about the issuance of passes, two-cent fare, baggage, claims, etc., and 19 applying to immigration, and the transportation of animals and liquors.

By way of contrast may be mentioned the fact that there were introduced in the British parliament 402 new bills—the session lasted nine months—of which 48 were passed. The railroad bills were included among the 131 private bills.

UNDEVELOPED INDUSTRIES

It must have occurred often of late to the thoughtful observer that the disposition manifested on all sides to find fault with those who are successful in worldly affairs—to criticize them, to hold them up to censure because of their success or the prosperity attending their efforts either for themselves or their corporations—is in most instances not only unfair but futile, and from both a social and a moral point of view, unwise. Is it not possible, it may well be asked, to enlist the forceful men, who are leading in every department of finance, commerce and industry, on the side of reform?

We have reached a period of industrial development when the successful and prosperous man is no longer a rarity. Great fortunes are being accumulated on every side. Fact, thrift, energy, a degree of intelligence that has not been known in any other age, contribute toward material development to a degree of which the last generation did not even dream. The men who are accomplishing things that compel attention in this age of marvelous accomplishment should not merely for this reason be held up to popular scorn or resentment. It will be much better if the rest of us recognize fully and generously the ability they are displaying, as we recognize ability in the arts, in the learned pursuits, in all the intellectual walks of life—and strive to enlist and direct it in the cause of good citizenship.

We do not advocate any compromise with wrongdoing. We do favor the taking of every step preliminary and necessary to the reorganization of present social and economic conditions whereby the striving of men will be less for self and more for the common weal.

The English premier will have to resign his office if it proves that the majority of the parliament is not with him. However, a few newspapers will urge him to retire, although doubtless there are several who would like to see him out of office. Just as there are some in the United States that think they can drive Joe Cannon from the Speaker's chair.

"Still," says an exchange, "Adam Volgaire will hardly sign up with Betting Bob La Follette." Well, one should hope not. A man who can fight for forty-eight hours the whole of the Senate, even though he was given the count at the end, is no easy proposition to meet for a forty-five round lighter trained to the minute.

One or two men feel that they have the call to decide matters politically for the republican party and are seeking to have a state convention of conservative republicans called to talk over candidates to oppose the more radical element of the party. Well, perhaps it may work and then again perhaps Mr. Cook's plans may all miscarry.

New York politicians are opposed to the direct primary law. They had a special committee visit Wisconsin last summer and then make their report and the result is not to be wondered at. Everyone who does not want to see can not see what those who have eyes look at plainly.

Philadelphia appears to be making an awful mess of that labor trouble. Of course in a city of brotherly love it is not surprising that violence shocks the residents but after years of political strife they should be used to it.

Today is the last of February. May March come on like a lion, so that it will go out like a lamb, according to old tradition. However, since that groundhog disappointed us perhaps this lamb and lion tale is also incorrect.

Millwaukee did not have to send to Roosevelt for a Hippo. When Ringling's big beast died they gave it to the city to be stuffed and placed in the museum for school children to gaze at and scientists to explain.

In spite of the cold wave everyone is willing to concede that winter has overstayed its welcome and we will be all glad to greet Miss Spring again as soon as possible.

Finland has powerful friends in Europe, but Russia can not be counted in this list by a good deal. Rather put Russia all in a class by itself when it comes to friendship.

It is hoped that Roosevelt will not stop in Egypt to shoot a few Fellahs even though the Smithsonian institute has not a single specimen to exhibit of this species.

Dynamite is a very poor motive power for streetcars as Philadelphia can testify to. Far better run them by the good old-fashioned electricity.

Which would be best—to be fed through a tube like an English but-fragetto or shot down and stabbed as the Russian political agent is?

THE POET PHILOSOPHER
 By WALT MASON.
 (Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams.)

"The cost of living's very high," the young man muttered, with a sigh; "when I have paid the grocer's bill, and helped the butcher line his till, and squared up my salary."

THE OLD PROBLEM has taken wings. There's something wrong, somewhere, I think; the government is on the blink; and congress can't amount to much. And Freedom, on her mount, I can't see, till prices are reduced by law; they are the worst I ever saw.

"When I was young," the Graybeard said, "a working man was clearly fed; I used to plow and put up hay, and only drew one bone a day; and yet, when days were dark and dank, I had a bundle in the bank. But when I never tried to burn more wealth than I was apt to earn; I wasn't buying hothouse grapes, imported hats or ornate capes; I never pawed my house and lot to buy an auto or a yacht, and never racked my dizzy brains with schemes to buy some aeroplanes. We're living now in boughsome times; the birds are pecked with our dimes; we idly blow our little more, and waste round and burrow more, and when we've landed in the broth, we gurgie forth, exceeding wroth: 'The laws are surely out of plumb! The government is on the bum!'"

We are prepared to make for you fresh a one pint bottle of Cod Liver Oil Emulsion after the government standard formula for one dollar. It will be compounded by Mr. Pfeiffer, our Graduate Pharmacist and Chemist, be made from the choicest oil without preservatives, be pleasant to take and give you the true medicinal effect. If you have failed to obtain satisfaction from taking so-called whines, etc., try a bottle of our Emulsion. It will cost you one-half the money of any patent article, be made fresh. We can add if you wish cascara, wild cherry or popple. It is well worth your while to have a talk with Mr. Pfeiffer on this subject. He can tell you how to buy many remedies better and cheaper. FAILED TO CONVICT
ALDERMAN ON TRIAL

First Case Ever Tried by Superior Court of Like Nature is Lost.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
 Superior, Wis., Feb. 28.—The first case ever tried in Superior in which an alderman was put on trial on the charge of accepting a bribe has resulted in a failure to convict. Alderman Stewart McCutcheon of the Tenth ward was cleared by the jury after deliberation of a couple of hours. It was largely a case of the alderman's word against his accuser, Fred Nordloh, street foreman, who was holding his position by sufferance of McCutcheon. Nordloh was about to be ousted with McCutcheon's consent, however, and sprung the bribery charge, alleging he had paid $25 for the job. His check to McCutcheon was exhibited in evidence, but McCutcheon, who runs a saloon, testified that he had cashed the check as an accommodation to his accuser. There being no other evidence on the point the state had a hard time to combat the defense.

Playground Plans
 The school board is getting busy on the playground and athletic field proposition, for all the wards of the city, and has just closed up contracts for three. It is the plan to buy lots while they are so higher and secure grounds that in the future might be held at prices which would prevent the carrying out of the plan. Several thousand dollars will be spent this year in this way. Among others a large athletic field is being acquired for the new high school. Although in the heart of the residential district the board has a fine chance to get an additional block of ground beside the one the new school is on and by vacating a street a long field will be afforded.

Candidates Ready
 Announcements are beginning to be made by candidates for office and Mayor Crumpton has come out with an announcement that he is so worried that politicians read between the lines that he intends to run independent if he does not get the republican nomination. Alderman Tomlinson will oppose him for the nomination and J. S. Kontel will be the democratic nominee, he says.

An early as 1504 the physicians of Germany used with great success Pure Cod Liver Oil in treating chronic rheumatism, swollen joints, gout, bronchitis and scrofulous skin diseases. The reputation of this oil became so great that companies were formed in different parts of the world to advertise this oil under fancy names and sell it at a high price. The only proper way of taking this oil is in form of a freshly made emulsion. Patent emulsions cost you one dollar for about one-half pint bottle. The amount of oil they contain is uncertain. They may be years old before used. Whines and ethers of cod liver oil are not effective for the simple reason that they do not contain the whole oil, therefore you cannot obtain the true effect.

PAINLESS DENTISTRY

One patient said she had been prostrated in bed for two weeks after the last extraction of a tooth, but she got right up from my chair and said that this time it was simply nothing.

She said, "How did you do it."

It is marvelous to myself when I think of it. Here I go on from day to day extracting hundreds really hundreds of teeth for people and they universally tell me that it did not hurt.

You won't be sick a bit afterwards if you choose me to do your dentistry.

STOUGHTON MAN BEATEN-ROBBED

AT PLEASANT AND JACKSON STREET CORNER.

LATE SATURDAY EVENING

Claude Montanye and Jesse Wells Arrested on Charge of Pounding and "Rolling" Peter Amundson.

Peter Amundson, a machinist from Stoughton, limped into the police station Saturday night and complained that he had been assaulted and robbed by two youths who had agreed to pilot him to a rooming house and put him to bed. The trouble, he said, had started when he gave one of the pair a twenty-five cent tip for showing him the way and the other one demanded a similar honorarium. According to his statements, he had been knocked down near the intersection of Pleasant and South Jackson streets, kicked in the ribs, punched in the face, and his pockets rifled and relieved of a gold watch, about $13 in money, a jackknife, and a bunch of keys to some thirty or forty boat-houses at Stoughton whose owners had delegated him to inspect their lunch-closets. His right eye was nearly closed and his whole appearance corroborated the story of rough usage.

The police officers at once got busy on the case and in the course of a short time had arrested Claude Montanye, who has served a term in prison for a statutory offense, and Jesse Wells, who was fined last August for participating with Roy Stinson on a similar assault on a Chicago man named John Kelly. Both youths were identified by Amundson and admitted having been in his company, but strenuously denied having taken any of his property.

In municipal court this morning Wells examination was set for Wednesday forenoon. Montanye's examination and his trial was set for Monday, March 7. Neither was able to furnish $500 bail bonds and both were securely handcuffed and taken to the county jail.

POLICE BROKE UP LARGE KEG-PARTY SUNDAY FORENOON

Revel Had Been in Progress at C. & N. W. Stockyards Office All Saturday Night.

Though the church bells were ringing merriment was at its climax in a high old time at the C. & N. W. stockyards office on Pearl street, about half past ten o'clock yesterday morning, when Chief Appleby, and Officers Patrick Fennell and Peter Champion alighted from the patrol wagon and put a kibosh on the most elaborate keg-party that has been given in that quarter this season. Robert Burns was there; likewise Otto Lantz, Tom Donahue and Jack Doherty; the remainder of a half barrel of beer; about a half bushel of onions, turnips, and potatoes; and a large can of tomatoes. The townsmen and general organizer of the festivities, which had been in progress all Saturday night, had taken his departure and though all the ingredients of the projected "stew" had been prepared for cooking, no hands had been lifted to complete the preparations for the sumptuous repast. Two of the party turned over the musical program to their confederates and were "bent to the world."

Beetroot, vegetables, and beer were loaded into the patrol wagon and taken to the city lock-up and the stew was served, Gillespie style, to all of the dancin' lasses later in the day. Otto Lantz and Robert Burns were each assessed $5 and costs in municipal court this morning and being unable to pay the same, were transferred to the county jail for a ten days sojourn. Sam Johnson of Stoughton, who was not a member of the party, was unable to pay a fine and costs of $2 and went to jail for three days. George Katschold was in a similar predicament and met with a similar fate.

Yesterday afternoon at the Myers Hotel the special committee of a hundred met and discussed plans for the closing of the charter of the local lodge of Loyal Order of Moose on March 11. On March 4th it is planned to hold the first annual banquet in Assembly Hall and it is expected that fully a thousand persons will be present at this time. At present the lodge numbers three hundred and fifty, and one of the purposes of yesterday's meeting was to lay plans for an active campaign to increase this number to five hundred before the closing of the charter. Plans for the proposed clubhouse will be discussed by the special committee having this in charge.

EFFORT WILL BE MADE TO ORGANIZE Y. W. C. A.

At a Meeting to Be Held at the Sheldon House, 230 South Jackson Street, Wednesday Afternoon.

At a meeting to be held at the Sheldon house, 230 South Jackson street, Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, an effort will be made to organize a Janesville branch of the Young Women's Christian association. All who are interested in the movement are earnestly requested to be present.

OTHER COMPETITORS ARE IN THE FIELD

High School Basketball Team Will Have to Play Winner of Hillsboro-Mt. Horeb Match for Entrance to Tournament.

In order to go to the state basketball tournament at Madison it has developed that the Janesville high school basketball team will first have to meet and defeat another team, either the Hillsboro high school or the Mt. Horeb five. These two teams are to meet in a match game at Madison tomorrow night and the Janesville players will then be matched against the winners, probably on Wednesday evening. If they are then victors, their title to admittance into the tourney at Madison will then be clear. The district in which Janesville was placed by the authorities in charge of the tournament, embraced a large amount of territory, about one-seventh of the state. The teams now in the field are not thought to be unusually strong and the way is practically clear for the Beaver City five. The springing of the mushroom squads, which have won games in their own small circle of territory and claim that they have a chance to take part in the tournament has necessitated changes in the schedule of the Janesville team.

SESSION OF THE COUNCIL TONIGHT

If It Can Be Done Legally, An Effort May Be Made to Put Treasurer's Salary Back on Old Basis.

Though several of the aldermen have been invited to attend the banquet, it is expected that a quorum will be on hand to transact the business of the common council this evening. Among the matters which will come up for consideration will be a petition from owners of property abutting on Cherry street for a sewer and a report from the committee of aldermen who conferred with property owners relative to the acceptance of sewer work done by Ryan & Flaley in that locality. It is probable that the work will be accepted but $50 withheld for resurfacing the street. It is understood that the informal meeting of the council to discuss the proposed grant to the Interurban Railroad company has not yet been held and that no action will be taken with reference to the franchise tonight. If it is found that such steps can be legally taken, an effort may be made to put the city treasurer's salary back on the old basis, as the cut made at the last meeting has not met with general approval.

RAILROAD RUSHES ORDERS FOR RAILS

Enough to Lay Ten Miles Are Ordered by New Railway Line.

(Special to the Gazette.)
Wausau, Wis., Feb. 28.—Chief Engineer Russell of the Chicago & Wisconsin Valley Railroad company, has placed a rush order for steel rails sufficient for ten miles of track, with a Chicago firm. Rails for seven miles of track will be shipped to Stevens Point and three miles to Portage, all to be used for local street car service, and to be shipped within the next three or four months. The surveying party has started work on the southern portion of the line, between Madison and Portage.

Death Rate Less.
That the percentage of deaths from tuberculosis in Wausau during the present year will be less than last year, when it was the second lowest of any city in the state, is the opinion of the health department. The number of deaths last year was seventeen. It is claimed, however, by that department that the months of January and February claim most of the deaths from tuberculosis and that therefore the number of deaths during this year from consumption will not reach seventeen.

Credit for Wausau's low percentage of deaths from tuberculosis is given to the educational campaign that has been waged against that disease in this city during recent years.

The convicted men are Dave Rousseau, Wausau; William Horhance, Kaukauna; and Andy Garland, a professional hobo who claims New London as his former home. The men enticed Melzko into the city park and robbed him.

FLOODS MENACE OHIO VALLEY.

Weather Bureau Presages Disaster as Result of Rain and Melting Snow.

Washington, Feb. 28.—Floods that presage disaster in the Ohio river valley are predicted before the end of the week by the United States weather bureau.

These floods, on account of the immense area of snows in that section that await the thaw, promise to be the worst ever known, and great loss of property and life is feared by officials of the bureau. The melting of snow, supplemented by rains during the past week, will cause a decided rise in the Ohio river and its tributaries, as well as in those streams that have their sources in the mountain districts of the North Atlantic states.

At present there seems to be no great peril in the upper Mississippi valley, where the melting of the snow is likely to be gradual.

PEARY GETS ANOTHER MEDAL.

Bartlett, who commanded the Roosevelt on the Peary expedition; gold medal, to Lieut. Ernest H. Shackleton, for his "nearest south pole;" silver tablet, to the duke of the Abruzzi, for his expedition to the Himalayas, where he made a record ascent.

South Bethlehem, Pa., Feb. 28.—With one man dead from a bullet fired by a state policeman, two others suffering from slight pistol wounds and more than a dozen men nursing injuries inflicted by the heavy riot sticks of the troopers, South Bethlehem is apprehensive of what this week has in store for it.

The state constabulary have arrested 29 strikers, mostly foreigners, who disobeyed in not keeping away from the plant's gate and assaulting the officers with stones and bricks.

BALD HEADS NOT WANTED

Baldness is Too Generally Considered a Sign of Advanced Age

A bald-headed person does not have an equal chance with one blessed with a healthy head of hair, because baldness is too generally accepted as an indication of age. Many large corporations have established an age limit, and refuse to take men over thirty-five years of age as new employees.

Almost 65 per cent of bald-headed people may regain a good head of healthy hair if they will follow our advice and accept our offer. We have a remedy that we positively guarantee to grow hair on any head, unless the roots of the hair are entirely dead, their follicles closed, and the scalp has become glazed and shiny. We want people to try this remedy at our risk, with the distinct understanding that unless it does exactly what we claim it will, and gives satisfaction in every respect, we shall make no charge for the remedy used during the trial.

We know exactly what we are talking about, and with this offer of our statements no one should doubt our word or hesitate to put our remedy to an actual test. We want every one suffering from any scalp or hair trouble, dandruff, falling hair or baldness, to try our Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We want them to use it regularly—say until three bottles have been used—and if it does not eradicate dandruff, cleanse and refresh the scalp, tighten the hair in its roots, and grow new hair, we will return every cent paid us for the remedy for the mere asking. There is no formality expected and we exact no obligation from the user whatever.

We are established right here where you live, and make this offer with a full understanding that our business success entirely depends upon the sort of treatment we accord our customers, and we would not dare make the above offer except that we are certain that we can substantiate it in every particular. Rexall "93" Hair Tonic comes in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Janesville only at our store, The Rexall Store, The Smith Drug Co.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

"Sleep, that kills up the ravel'd sleeve of care,
The death of each day's life, sore labor's bath,
Balm of hurt minds, great nature's second course,
Chief nourisher in life's feast."

—Shakespeare.

I LOVE that tribute of Shakespeare, for I am an almost fanatic believer in the supreme value of good sleep as a prime factor in every happy and successful life.

Show me a successful man, and in nine cases out of ten, I will show you a man who, whether he gets a great many hours' sleep or not, will tell you that he sleeps well and soundly.

Don't you want to sleep well?

Or, if you do sleep well, don't you want to sleep better?

Then maybe a little suggestion, which a friend of mine, who has managed to keep well while doing the work of at least two women, will not come amiss.

For when I asked her how she accomplished this feat she thought a moment and then said, "Well, I think my nighttime walk has as much to do with it as anything."

"You see, just before I go to bed every night, I spend a few minutes out of doors."

"You know I do my husband's bookkeeping in the evening and often I don't get through until eleven or twelve o'clock, but it doesn't make any difference how late it is I always take a few minutes' walk before I go to bed."

"The fresh air cools my head and makes me sleepy. And then, if it is pleasant, I can look up at the stars, and when you are tired and confused and fretted I don't know of anything that rests you like looking up at that great big peaceful dome and those beautiful stars."

To those of us whose work does not extend into the evening, such a walk is not, of course, as necessary as it is for this woman and anyone else whose working hours border on their hours for sleep.

But the same thing that makes sleep possible for her at all, may make someone else sleep deeper and sweeter and more refreshing.

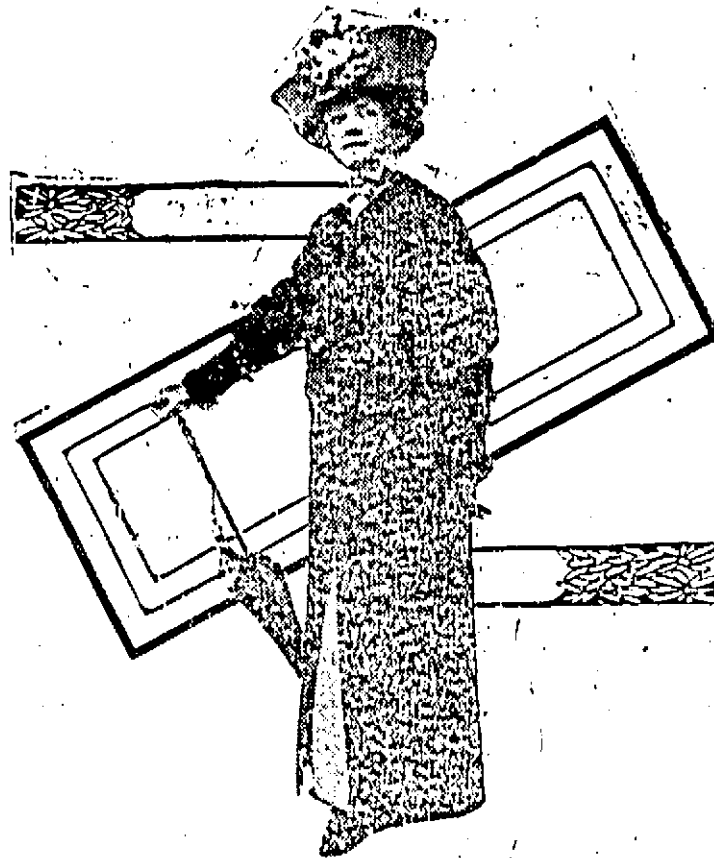

A tremendous amount of work may make it possible for you to do the lesser amount that you do extremely well.

To succeed, to stand out prominently, one must have something unusual—an unusual talent, unusual opportunity, unusual equipment.

A brain that comes to work each morning perfectly rested is an unusual equipment.

Why not try and see if this won't help you to have it?

Ruth Cameron

MILITARY BRAIDED MUSCOVITE GARMENT IN BLACK AND RED.

Exceeding startling but, immensely smart is the color combination of this garment, of pronounced muscovite type. The width of the fine broadcloth afforded adequate scope for the selection of the tailor who cut the straight, smart back and fronts, the seamless shoulders and the long, wide sleeves which define the top of the arms and which from elbow to wrist, the military trimmings of a vivid red shade are of Russian braid, the buttons are of polished brass, quaintly chased, and the lining of satin matching the color of the garment. The garment answers for a carriage wrap or for use at a fashionable country club.

HARD TO TELL.

George—How do you like skating?
Helen—Don't know. Haven't been standing up long enough to see.

SENSE OR SENTIMENT.

By MARY RUSSELL.
When we read the old-fashioned three volumes novels over we wonder what has become of the timid, gentle lady who was the poet's ideal and the novelist's pride a few decades ago. She wept copiously on all occasions, and it is surmised that perhaps she turned into a fountain, or perhaps the springs that beautify the world owe its origin to her. Certainly she has no place in the world of today.

Has sentiment gone out of fashion—like the queer key pattern are used on bodies and skirt, and the ornament at waist line in pearl beads.

Less expensive material, satin cloth, for example, in a pretty delicate shade, could be used for this moon with very pleasing results.

often heard. And it is with pride that the response is in the affirmative. The sickly, sentimental sentiment of the age when women were either arguments or slaves has gone by, and a good thing, too.

True, some small marks of idleness and deference from man has gone with it, but on the whole the world of men and women is the better.

The gentleman of that decade was allowed many vagaries that the girl of today will have none of. He can no longer drink, or game, or have disreputable love affairs, and retain his place in the social world. Men are not yet saints, but they have made many strides towards sainthood in this age, and it is due in a large measure to the demands of the women whom they love and love them.

It is only a very young girl, or one to whom the lives of men are closed, who will let herself come in contact with a man of low ideals.

One great factor in the change is that the mother no longer feels it her duty to blindfold the girl to all that is wrong with the world. The girl of today sees and knows things that the girl of a few years ago dared not even think about.

The standard of womanly virtues is just as high, but the woman today demands a higher and purer standard. A man no longer attempts to dazzle the inexperienced girl with tales of vice and conquest. If he is not clean in his private life he keeps it to himself, and a sense of shame is the first step towards better things.

The clinging vine was always a poor ideal of womanhood. Any gardener knows that a vine will choke the sturdiest tree to death if given sufficient time.

The man who drank the cynical toast, "Here's to woman!" Once our superior, now our equal? was more witty than when. Did any man ever think any woman his superior in any thing save only in virtue?

Shoulder to shoulder, and side by side, women and men of today are walking steadily upward together towards a higher ideal. Surely the man can see that he walks with a freer step and a lighter heart, when the woman keeps step, instead of being a burden upon him. Women today might offer a toast, "Here's to man! Once our inferior, now our equal!"

Heavy Actor—Stop, there's some mistake here!

Audience (excitedly)—You're a mistake. What's the matter?

Heavy Actor—There's some grievous error. That last egg was perfectly fresh.

"This is a grocery store. The state prison is ten blocks down."

The original of this model was made from Parma velvet, with cream lace mounted on satin to form the bodice and elbow sleeves. Bands of chenille embroidered in Greek key pattern are used on bodice and skirt, and the ornament at waist line in pearl beads.

Less expensive material, satin cloth, for example, in a pretty delicate shade, could be used for this moon with very pleasing results.

The man who drank the cynical toast, "Here's to woman!" Once our superior, now our equal? was more witty than when. Did any man ever think any woman his superior in any thing save only in virtue?

Shoulder to shoulder, and side by side, women and men of today are walking steadily upward together towards a higher ideal. Surely the man can see that he walks with a freer step and a lighter heart, when the woman keeps step, instead of being a burden upon him. Women today might offer a toast, "Here's to man! Once our inferior, now our equal!"

Heavy Actor—Stop, there's some mistake here!

Audience (excitedly)—You're a mistake. What's the matter?

Heavy Actor—There's some grievous error. That last egg was perfectly fresh.

often heard. And it is with pride that the response is in the affirmative. The sickly, sentimental sentiment of the age when women were either arguments or slaves has gone by, and a good thing, too.

The gentleman of that decade was allowed many vagaries that the girl of today will have none of. He can no longer drink, or game, or have disreputable love affairs, and retain his place in the social world. Men are not yet saints, but they have made many strides towards sainthood in this age, and it is due in a large measure to the demands of the women whom they love and love them.

It is only a very young girl, or one to whom the lives of men are closed, who will let herself come in contact with a man of low ideals.

One great factor in the change is that the mother no longer feels it her duty to blindfold the girl to all that is wrong with the world. The girl of today sees and knows things that the girl of a few years ago dared not even think about.

The standard of womanly virtues is just as high, but the woman today demands a higher and purer standard. A man no longer attempts to dazzle the inexperienced girl with tales of vice and conquest. If he is not clean in his private life he keeps it to himself, and a sense of shame is the first step towards better things.

The clinging vine was always a poor ideal of womanhood. Any gardener knows that a vine will choke the sturdiest tree to death if given sufficient time.

WENT THROUGH HERETwelve Cars of Black Jack from Mexico Passed Through City En Route to Mineral Point.(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Monroe, Wis., Feb. 28.—Twelve cars of black jack ore passed through Monroe on its way to Mineral Point over the Milwaukee road, consigned to the zinc works of that city. Three hundred more cars are on the way.
The ore was shipped from Old Mexico and the freight charges on each car amount to $300. A special freight from Janesville took them through.
The Mineral Point plant is the largest of its kind in the United States.Basketball Games
The two games of basketball played in the armory between two Monroe and two Broadhead teams were won by a large margin by our home team.
The games were a fine exhibition of clean basketball, at no time any understanding work being done by either side. The first game was played between the Crescents of Monroe and the Invictibles of Broadhead. Monroe won by a score of 24 to 17. The big game between the Business Institute and the Broadhead high school was won by the former by a score of 34 to 26. This was the final appearance of the M. B. I. boys, and their skill and accuracy in handling the ball was surprising, considering this was their first game on each side, and it is sportsmanship on each side, and it is to be regretted that a larger crowd
did not turn out to root for the home teams.K. of P. Dance
The Knights of Pythias held the 44th anniversary of their lodge with a big dance at K. of P. hall, over 175 dances being in attendance. A large program was given. Miss Margaret Faubel of Freeport gave several readings, and John H. H. and Herman Palms did a vaudeville act. One of the most amusing incidents of the evening was a "bear act" furnished by two of the lodge members, impersonating an imported Brazilian emperor and an Italian keeper, with hand organ equipment. Following the program dancing and card-playing were indulged in until 12 o'clock, when the party broke up.Local News

COVER THE GROUNDWho Are to Be Enumerated and What Questions They Will Answer.The explicit and lengthy printed instructions to the census enumerators, which have been prepared by the United States Census Bureau, give a clear idea of the character of the answers expected from the people of the United States with regard to the question in the population schedule to be carried in the decennial census April 15 next.All answers are to have reference solely to the "Census Day," which is April 15. Persons living on that day, but who died after it and before the enumerators call, are to be counted, but persons born after April 15 are not to be included in the count. Persons who were single on April 15 are not to be included in the count. Persons who were single on April 15 are not to be reported as single, even though they have married subsequently and before the canvasser has called. This is true, similarly, of persons who have been widowed or divorced after April 15.The census law provides that all persons shall be enumerated at their usual places of abode" on April 15.
This means the place where they may be said to live or belong or the place which is their home. As a rule, the usual place of abode is not the place where a person works or where he eats, but where he regularly sleeps.
The enumerators are cautioned, however, that where a man happens to sleep at the time of the enumeration
may not be the place where he regularly sleeps.There will be a number of persons having their usual places of abode in enumeration districts who will be absent April 15. These are to be included and enumerated after the facts regarding them have been obtained from their families, relatives, acquaintances, or other persons able to give the information. For instance, if a member of any family in an enumeration district is temporarily away from home on a visit, or on business, or traveling for pleasure, or attending school or college, or sick in a hospital,
such absent person is to be enumerated and included with other members of the family. But a son or daughter regularly living in another locality should not be counted with the family at home.Servants, laborers, or other employees, who live with the family, and sleep in the same house or on the premises, should be enumerated with the family.The Census Bureau states that there will be, on the other hand, a certain number of persons present and perhaps lodging and sleeping in districts
at the time of the enumeration who do not have their usual places of abode
there. These are not to be enumerated. It must be assumed that they will be enumerated elsewhere. The canvassers should not, therefore, unless it is practically certain that they will not be enumerated anywhere else,
enumerate or include with the members of a family they are enumerating
any of the following classes:Persons visiting a family:
Transient boarders or lodgers who have some other usual or permanent place of abode.Students or children living or boarding with a family in order to attend
some school, college, or other educational institution in the locality but not regarding the place as their home.Persons who take their meals with a family but lodge or sleep elsewhere.Servants, apprentices, or other persons employed by a family and working in the house or on the premises, but not sleeping there.Any person who was formerly in a family, but who has since become a permanent inmate of an asylum, almshouse, home for the aged, reformatory, prison, or any other institution in which the inmates may remain for long periods of time.TOTALLY BLIND, YET ARE GOOD SALESMENTwo Graduates of State School for the Blind Capable of Selling Many Instruments.From Superior comes the following story that will be of interest to many residents who are interested in the work being done at the State School for the Blind.Totally blind, but in spite of their affliction conductors of a highly successful piano business. This is the accomplishment which the Maker has given to Herbert Cooley and John Bier though they have taken from them the power to see the faces of the persons to whom they sell their instruments.The story of the two sightless young men is an interesting one. Not withstanding their affliction they appeared to be two of the happiest and most contented persons one would care to meet. The great dexterity with which they travel from place to place about the city is a source of wonderment to the pedestrians. They can find any residence number in the city with but little trouble.Both Janesville Graduates.
Without knowing them to be blind
it is quite possible for one to mistake
them for persons possessed of vision.
Both are graduates of the Wisconsin
State School for the Blind at Janesville and have diplomas for a course in piano tuning. Mr. Cooley is a former East Chicago boy. Until 1906 when he came to Superior he was for five years and a half at school. Mr.
Bier was raised in Milwaukee and went to school at the same as Mr.
Cooley did, remaining there, however,
until 1907, when he located at Ashland.Not always have the two young men been without their sight. Mr.
Bier's affliction is the result of an accident with a pair of shears. Both young men keep abreast with their fellows and through many weekly and monthly magazines for the blind to which they are subscribers.Can Make Pianos.
Among the other things which the young men are able to do is to make pianos. Both have taken a course in the art of piano construction and each made a piano for exhibit at the St. Louis exposition. Besides beingable to play the piano both can play several other instruments.The school life of Mr. Cooley and myself, said Mr. Bier, was very same as that of any other young man's school life. We had our classroom periods, study hours and athletic games. Football was the chief athletic game though, however, neither of us made great successes of this. During our spare time, especially of Saturdays, we did weaving, made fish nets, brooms and many other things.
The material that we used in these articles we were privileged to buy and then could sell the articles, making considerable pin money for ourselves.
"The last year I was at school I did quite a bit of piano tuning."SAME OLD MARCH IS TO START TOMORROWWill Come in Like a Lamb and Go Out Like a Lion According to the Weather Man.March will come in like a lamb and go out like a lion, say those who are weather-wise. And if the old adage holds true we should have a stormy, windy month, coupled with a late spring.This again is another famous "theory" shattered. For haven't we heard for ages that if the groundhog
does not see his shadow on Candle-mass day we shall have an early spring?Which will be right, the groundhog prophecy, or the lamb and lion theory?
For according to the prophecy March,
coming in like a lamb, should go out like a lion.This isn't going to be the coldest March we have had in years, says the weather man. Still it will be a characteristic March, not different from any that has preceded. March will be March, and March weather is March weather, a mixture of winds and storms, warm weather and cold, such as is thrown together in no other month in the year.Eastern Wisconsin always has a late spring, owing to the lake water than the interior of the state. We should have cold weather, that is colder than the interior of Wisconsin, as late as the middle or last of April. There should be one or two short cold spells reaching probably to zero, during March. Winter always lags through this month, and it is because the people are tired of the cold weather; because they are longing for spring that they look upon the month as being the worst in years.WILTON LACKAYE IN
"THE BATTLE" PLAYWell-known Actor and Splendid Company Presented Striking Drama
In Convincing Manner."The Battle," a new play by Cleveland Moffet dealing with modern conditions in a ruthless, up-to-date fashion, was presented at the Myers theatre Saturday evening by Wilton Lackaye and company.The demonstration with infinite care
the problems of capital and labor, without attempting to offer any whiskey solution. John A. Haggleton, the heartless trust magnate and central figure who goes to live in his own tenements and force his way up from poverty again, in order to win back a long-lost son, emerges from the ordeal without materially changing his creed that the strong must and ought to survive and the weak shall be their servants. He is willing, it is true, to do something handsome for the submerged tenth, if anybody can put the way, but nobody, not even the old sea-dog, "Gentle," who is a sterling character for three acts and then winds up as an obsequious retainer in Haggleton's Fifth avenue mansion. It is quite disheartening to learn that everybody engaged in the struggle for existence has his price. Even "Mercutio," the noble, the single individual who does not respond to the money lure, surrenders her "principles" when she learns that her own brother was instrumental in compassing the downfall of "Jenny," another of the characters. This disheartened touch is almost lacking.Mr. Lackaye gives a splendid demonstration of Haggleton, the millionaire, and Haggleton wearing the easy
lounging coat of a better nature,
and rebukes socialism and "barbaric socialists" like Joseph Mall Patterson in well-rounded periods. He is at his best while succeeding almost too well in showing the shiftless poor how to get ahead. Harry Hillard is excellent as "Philip Ames," the lost son,
and the same may be said of Thomas McCrae as "Gentle," Lawrence,
Charles Abbe makes "Joe," the baker, Francis and striking figure in the picture. Gerald Griffin contributes some excellent comedy in the role of the garrulous "Moran." Julia Horne's portrayal of "Jenny" is realistic and true and materially enhances the convincing character of the play.Lieber & Co. have provided the play with the same sumptuous scenic backgrounds which are characteristic of all of their productions. The audience was not as large as it should have been.
